

Gen. 3:19 By the sweat of your face you shall eat bread until you return to the ground, for out of it you were taken; you are dust, and to dust you shall return.

Eccl. 1:14 I have seen all the things that are done under the sun; all of them are meaningless, a chasing after the wind.

Eccl. 2:11 Yet when I surveyed all that my hands had done and what I had toiled to achieve, everything was meaningless, a chasing after the wind; nothing was gained under the sun.

Eccl. 2:15 Then I thought in my heart, “The fate of the fool will overtake me also. What then do I gain by being wise?” I said in my heart, “This too is meaningless.”

Eccl. 2:17 So I hated life, because the work that is done under the sun was grievous to me. All of it is meaningless, a chasing after the wind.

1Pet. 1:24 All flesh is like grass and all its glory like the flowers of the field.

The grass withers,
and the flower falls...

Jean Paul Sartre ...“a finite point without an infinite reference point is essentially meaningless”

Matt. 6:19-21 Do not store up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust consume and where thieves break in and steal;

but store up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust consumes and where thieves do not break in and steal.

For where your treasure is, there your heart is also.

1 Cor 3:13-15...the work of each builder will become visible, because it will be revealed by fire, and the fire will test what sort of work each has done. If what has been built on the foundation survives, the builder will receive a reward. If the work is burned up, the builder will suffer loss; the builder will be saved, but only as through fire.
