

■ forgiveness
■ is
■ personal

Judges 15

■ forgiveness
is
■ personal

condoning

forgiveness
is
personal

condoning
forgetting

forgiveness
is
personal

condoning
forgetting
reconciling

■ forgiveness
is
■ personal

condoning
forgetting
reconciling
justice/consequences

forgiveness
is
personal

personal

■ forgiveness
is
■ personal

personal process

■ forgiveness
is
■ personal

Judges 15

“This time I have a right”

■ forgiveness
is
■ personal

“Since you’ve acted like this...”

forgiveness
is
personal

“I merely did to them...”
I Peter 2:23

■ forgiveness
is
■ personal

Romans 12

■ forgiveness
is
■ personal

Luke 23

forgiveness
is
personal

Tim Keller:

There is another option, however.

You can forgive.

Forgiveness means refusing to make them pay for what they did. However, to refrain from lashing out at someone when you want to do so with all your being is agony.

It is a form of suffering

You are absorbing the debt, taking the cost of it completely on yourself instead of taking it out on the other person.

It hurts terribly.

Many people would say it feels like a kind of death.

Yes, but it is a death that leads to resurrection instead of the life long living death of bitterness and cynicism. You are not giving it any fuel and so the resentment burns lower and lower.

Parker Palmer:
The cross says,
“The pain stops here.”

The way of the cross is a way of absorbing pain, not passing it on, a way that transforms pain from destructive impulse into creative power.

When Jesus accepted the cross, his death opened up a channel for the redeeming power of love.

The following slides have been formatted without background images to make it more efficient for printing.

Judges 15

condoning
forgetting
reconciling
justice/consequences

personal
process

Judges 15

“This time I have a right”

“Since you’ve acted like this...”

“I merely did to them...”

I Peter 2:23

Romans 12

Luke 23

Tim Keller:

There is another option, however.

You can forgive.

Forgiveness means refusing to make them pay for what they did. However, to refrain from lashing out at someone when you want to do so with all your being is agony.

It is a form of suffering

You are absorbing the debt, taking the cost of it completely on yourself instead of taking it out on the other person.

It hurts terribly.

Many people would say it feels like a kind of death.

Yes, but it is a death that leads to resurrection instead of the life long living death of bitterness and cynicism. You are not giving it any fuel and so the resentment burns lower and lower.

Parker Palmer:
The cross says,
“The pain stops here.”

The way of the cross is a way of absorbing pain, not passing it on, a way that transforms pain from destructive impulse into creative power.

When Jesus accepted the cross, his death opened up a channel for the redeeming power of love.